Teams Bag Champion and Runner-up at 2022 NDC Regional Revitalization Proposals Competition

Last November, the National Development Council (NDC) released the final results of the 2022 Regional Revitalization Proposals Competition. Two teams nurtured by our Seafood Science Department (DSFS) scooped up 1st and 2nd place.

The champion team, Margi Mumu, formed by a group of young indigenous people, applied Rukai's traditional herbal knowledge to produce essential oils, distillates, and other aromatherapy products. Their name, "Margi Mumu," a word from the indigenous Rukai tribe meaning "Hello everyone," demonstrated the friendly and pleasant atmosphere that the team wanted to build for everyone.

The runner-up team Eriel Gelato was a startup founded by a group of NKUST alumni. It used fish-scale collagen, developed by Prof. Tsai, Mei-Ling, as a primary food additive for its products, including collagen gelatos, collagen soup dumplings, and collagen chicken soups. In order to create products for the international market, Eriel Gelato ensured that all their products were halal food.

DSFS helped these teams to gain related resources from the government, civil groups, or competitions. The Office of Marine Science and Technology and the Innovation and Incubation Center also gave members of these teams strong backing in providing suggestions for their entrepreneurial plans.
